

CLARE MUSEUM

Ennis, Co. Clare

6,000 years of history excitingly captured

Clare is a remarkable county and the story of its people, which stretches back over 6,000 years, is excitingly captured at the Riches of Clare exhibition at the Clare Museum. Located in the beautifully restored former Convent of Mercy building, the exhibits are displayed using themes of earth, power, faith and water.

Over 400 Clare artefacts on loan from the National Museum of Ireland can be seen. Together with other local collections, artwork, audio-visual and interactive experiences, and images, provide an exciting glimpse into Clare's history.
